David Tremlett at Portico d'Ottavia

17 OCTOBER - 10 JANUARY 2003

On Friday 17 October at Valentina Bonomo Arte Contemporanea on via del Portico d'Ottavia 13 in Rome, the new show by David Tremlett will be inaugurated.

David Tremlett presents 15 new works in pastel on paper together with a project that involves the physical structure of the gallery, in which Tremlett creates a wall drawing in the principal room of the space.

The discovery of places and the artists dialogue with these spaces constitutes the principal organization of Tremlett's artistic research.

His personal perception of the space, a concept of foremost importance to the artist, can be translated continually in the recognizable geometric forms united with pictorial signs that Tremlett leaves like tracks of his passages.

Artist-traveler, according to the most rooted English traditions, David Tremlett (Cornwall 1945) is one of the most noted displayers of contemporary art in his generation. He has exhibited in some of the most important museums and galleries in Europe.
